Citizens to Register For Home Folks

People from all parts of the country are constantly stopping off at Ashland to look over our city and country. There are former residents of every state in the Union and many places in Canada residing in Ashland and vicinity. The Commercial Club desires to obtain the names and addresses and the places of former residence of all our people, both in Ashland and the surrounding country, in order when strangers come here it may be able to refer them, if possible, to some one from their own locality back home, and thus give them a warmer welcome. Will you call at the Commercial Club rooms and leave your name and address and place of former residence or fill out and mail the Commercial Club form below?

For a Torpid Liver.

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets off and on for the past six years whenever my liver shows signs of being in a disordered condition. They have always acted quickly and given me the desired relief," writes Mrs. F. H. Trubus, Springfield, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

Pretty Useful Shoes.

It would be difficult to realize what the Frieslander would do without his klompen or wooden shoes, for they have a hundred uses. With them he bails out his boat, corrects his children and scoops up a drink of water wherever he may be. He places in them his worms for fishing, uses them as missiles in a free fight, measures dry goods with them and a hundred other things. The klompen are cheap. They cost about fifteen pence a pair, man's size, and Dutchmen's feet are not Cinderella-like by any means.—Wide World Magazine.

Seldom Misses.

Two "good fellows" were ambulating home at an early hour in the morning after a festive evening. "Doesn't your wife miss you on these occasions?" asked one. "Not often," replied the other; "she throws pretty straight."—Cleveland Leader.

Where They Differed.

"I always try to look at everything from both sides."
"Your wife tells a different story."
"How's that?"
"She says you haven't seen the inside of a church for years."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Made It Short.

Newed—What's wrong with this pie crust? It doesn't half cover the pie.
Mrs. Newed—Why, dearest, I asked your mother all about how to make them to suit you, and she said to make the crust very short.—Boston Transcript.

Precept and Practice.

"What's the matter with your wife?"
"She has fretted herself into a sick headache over her paper for the Don't Worry club."—Baltimore American.

FLYWHEELS IN WARFARE.

As Projectiles They Would Mow Down Everything in Their Way.

A big flywheel spinning rapidly involves a much greater danger than that of merely exploding. The explosion of a flywheel is due to centrifugal force and causes pieces of the wheel to fly off at a tangent in the plane of the wheel, but in practically every direction in this plane. But consider for a moment what would happen if a flywheel were to become loose from its bearings and stay whole.

The great velocity of rotation would be changed to velocity of translation, and the wheel would travel with lightning swiftness along the floor in the direction of rotation. It would act like a locomotive wheel going at tremendous speed. Of course, if it were to drop in a puddle of oil it would not go far, but simply slip like an engine wheel on an oiled track. But with no oil to check its course the results would be awful to contemplate.

Suppose that the wheel was forty feet in circumference and was rotating at 1,800 revolutions a minute. A point on the wheel would then be traveling 72,000 feet a minute, or about 800 miles an hour. This is as fast as a cannon ball and, of course, the wheel would act in a similar manner to a cannon ball—it would be a mighty projectile that would go through almost anything. It is this danger which keeps the size and speed of flywheels down in practice, especially aboard ship.

It is possible that projectiles will yet be made on this principle for certain purposes. Think what an army could do at short range if it was equipped with hundreds of big flywheels that could be released. They would travel along the ground at great speed and would simply mow down everything in their way. The only drawback to the use of flywheels in this way is the resistance of the ground, and that would not hold for a distance as short as half a mile.

While an ordinary projectile hits in one spot only, the flywheel would cover an area as wide as the wheel and as long as the path over which it traveled. Therefore it is hardly possible that any wheel would become spent without doing great damage. It could be pretty accurately aimed and, on account of its gyroscopic effect, would travel in practically a straight line. Its gyroscopic effect would not, however, keep it from going up or down a hill, but would prevent it from deviating from its path otherwise.

Defense against such a projectile would be hard to get.—New York American.

WHEN TROUT IS AVAILABLE.

TROUT is at its very best now, and lovers of this delicious fish are happy. Some simple ways of preparing trout are suggested here:

With a Piquant Sauce.

Boiled Trout.—Prepare fish as for baking. If an oblong kettle is at hand lay the fish on a small old platter. If it must be cooked in a round kettle use a plate and curve the fish by tying a broad band of muslin around it. Now slip a piece of cheesecloth or clean muslin under the plate and tie or pin into a loop. Through this slide a long handled spoon or a stick, which must rest on the sides of the kettle and keep the fish hanging under the water, but so as not to touch the bottom. The kettle must be large enough to have the fish well immersed and the water be boiling briskly, one tablespoonful of salt for about six cupfuls of water, and either one spoonful of vinegar or two slices of lemon can be added. This makes the flesh firm. Allow about ten minutes for each pound. Test as for baking after lifting from the kettle. If the flesh does not flake easily apart return it once more. Serve with piquant sauce.

Highly Seasoned Fish.

Spanish Trout.—Scale the trout and remove the head. Then split and remove the center bone. Cut away the small bones along the edge on top of the fish. Wash and dry between pieces of cheesecloth. The fish must never remain in the water after it has been scaled and washed. Brush a bake pan with drippings, put the fish in, skin side down. Pour over the sauce and bake in a hot oven twenty minutes.

To make the sauce take one cupful of tomatoes, one large tablespoonful of cut onion, one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white pepper, a dash of paprika, a small bayleaf, three whole cloves, three whole allspice, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, one tablespoonful of dripping or butter, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley and one tablespoonful of caramel. Put the drippings and onion in the pan and cook until the onion is tender, not brown. Add the tomatoes and seasonings and cook ten minutes. If the tomatoes are firm add one-half cupful of water. Strain, then add the parsley and the cornstarch, wet with a little cold water. Cook one minute, then pour over the fish.

Anna Thompson.

HINTS FOR HOME GARDENERS.

Never plant a seed deeper than four times its size. Always look carefully at the seed.

Pulverize the soil. Try using an old kitchen strainer or buy a small sieve.

Press the soil firmly with a thin board.

Water lightly with the finest of sprinkling cans. Don't use the hose.

Don't sow if a rain is coming up, but if one does come cover seeds with newspapers.

Should the sun be very hot cover seeds and baby plants with newspapers, but be sure to remove them before sundown.

In case of a cold snap cover overnight with papers. Twigs or small stones will hold papers down.

Sow seed evenly, and don't be afraid to thin out when the young plants are about two inches high.
